

While the University of Florida School of Medicine does not have a fee to apply, the University of Florida Office of Admissions (University Admissions) has a Professional Application fee of $30 with a $7 processing fee payable before completing the School of Medicine secondary application.

We have limited vouchers to waive this fee for those who qualify for the AMCAS Fee Assistance Program and are applying to the MD-PhD Program.

If you fit the above criteria, please fill out the request form found via the QR code below.

